John focuses his practice on management-side labor and employment law as well as employment tax law. He assists employers with wage and hour matters arising under federal, state, and local laws, including audits and class and collective actions, all aspects of employee-versus-independent-contractor classification, as well as federal and state Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification (WARN) Act compliance planning and litigation.

John also assists employers with compliance issues and the defense of claims arising under numerous labor and employment laws, including the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA), New York Paid Family Leave (PFL), the equal employment opportunity laws, including the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA), Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the New York Human Rights Law, and other corresponding state and local laws. In addition, he regularly advises clients regarding restrictive covenants, commission and incentive compensation plans, paid time off obligations, employment policies and practices, discipline and discharge matters, workers' compensation coverage and premium issues, and unemployment insurance audits and appeals.

Experience

A Hodgson Russ team of attorneys represented a client in connection with a major corporate acquisition, including extensive employment-related due diligence, the revision of employment-related representations and warranties in purchase documents, WARN Act compliance, the administration of complex benefits issues in connection with the transaction, and the negotiation of employment agreements for executives hired by the company.

As reported in the New York Times, Micron announced the siting of a chip factory complex in the Town of Clay, located north of Syracuse, NY. Micron has retained a team of Hodgson attorneys (Chris Canada (Albany), Glen Doherty (Albany), Chris Doyle (Buffalo), Terry Gilbride (Buffalo), John Godwin (Buffalo), Joe Scott (Albany) and Jeff Swiatek (Buffalo)) to handle IDA, construction, real estate, tax and labor matters. The firm has already handled a significant amount of work of the matter relating to the structuring and completion of a Project Labor Agreement with the local trade unions through the efforts of Glen Doherty, with support by John Godwin and Jeff Swiatek.

The project is expected to be undertaken in multiple phases over a 10 year period, and involve the investment of over $100 billion. Job estimates include 9,000 Micron employees and over 40,000 jobs for suppliers, contractors and vendors.

The firm secured the work through a contact/referral at the Greenberg Traurig firm, who is acting as government relations consultant to Micron. In addition, the firm was able to demonstrate the experience and skill set necessary to handle such an engagement by describing the work currently being handled by the same team members for a $300M offshore wind manufacturing project to be sited in the Port of Albany.

Hodgson Russ successfully represented a large company in connection with a wage-and-hour audit by the U.S. Department of Labor regarding the exempt status of certain workers under the Fair Labor Standards Act.
