The current health crisis and American election outcome raise a lot of challenging immigration issues for businesses. Are your business activities affected by the inability to send employees to the US? Join Hodgson Russ, specializing in US immigration law, to help make sense of this tightened visa and immigration landscape, tackling questions such as:

- Where do we find ourselves as an employer and/or individual with the current US rules & regulations?
- What are the exact US re-entry restrictions? Are they expected to change before the end of the year/at the beginning of next year?
- Who's exempted and who's not? What about current visa and petition processing?
- What is the National Interest Exception (NIE)?
- How do I maneuver state & federal laws for foreign employees with legal status tied to their employment?
- Is working off-site for foreign employees now allowed?

This webinar is organized in partnership with BelCham, Flanders Investment & Trade, and KBC Bank.
