April 1, 2009

This presentation, delivered by Hodgson Russ attorney Michelle Merola, focused on the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA) — a U.S. anti-corruption law jointly enforced by the Department of Justice and the Securities and Exchange Commission that has had a major impact on the way companies conduct business abroad. Michelle covered FCPA requirements and prohibitions, recent enforcement and case studies, how to conduct a risk assessment, compliance strategies for mergers and acquisitions, compliance strategies for daily operations, and minimizing the impact of an enforcement action.
