December 4, 2006

We are pleased to announce an expansion of our more than 30-year presence in South Florida with the opening of our Palm Beach office, located on the sixth floor of 450 Royal Palm Way.

Hodgson Russ's South Florida offices offer a range of services, including business litigation; business succession planning; corporate and securities; estates and trusts; Florida family and marital law; immigration; intellectual property; labor and employment; real estate and finance; and international, federal, multistate, state, and local tax.

Among our South Florida, New York City, and Toronto clients, we are particularly well known for our estates and trusts and tax practices. The office in Palm Beach will allow Hodgson Russ attorneys like Paul R. Comeau, firm chairman and esteemed tax and estate attorney, to better serve their business and high-net-worth individual clients going forward.
