

What Sets Us Apart

Clients tell us that they consider Plunkett Cooney to be a unique law firm because they see us as determined, distinctive and fearless whenever we undertake an assignment on their behalf.

Over the past century, we have built a reputation as a leading provider of commercial, transactional and litigation services. Since the firm was founded in 1913 by Frederick J. Ward, our attorneys have embraced a rich tradition of providing the very best in comprehensive legal representation.

They understand that total client satisfaction is the foundation up on which the firm is built, whether the call for our services takes us into the boardroom or the courtroom. It may sound cliché, but at Plunkett Cooney we care about our clients. We consider them to be not only our partners in business but a part of our family as well.

Our attorneys will take the time to understand your business, industry and goals before tackling complex transactions. They will provide aggressive representation in litigation, advising you when to settle or when to take your case to trial. Your calls will be returned promptly, your matters will be explained thoroughly and your assignments will be staffed appropriately, all with the goal of achieving the right result and while keeping your bottom line in mind.

Plunkett Cooney's commitments to client service, excellence in the practice of law and diversity among its attorneys and staff have been recognized repeatedly over the past 100 years. We are proud of our heritage and look forward to Plunkett Cooney's next century of determined, distinctive and fearless service to our clients.
