An attorney in the firm's Flint office, Rhonda R. Stowers has an extensive litigation practice that includes general liability, governmental law, commercial liability, transportation law and real estate.

Ms. Stowers has defended numerous premises, employment, first-party No-Fault and third-party motor vehicle negligence claims, product and general liability cases on behalf of religious institutions, businesses, insurance companies, employers, landlords, manufacturers and retailers. She has also successfully represented commercial clients in creditors' rights and bankruptcy matters.

As part of her governmental law practice, Ms. Stowers advises and defends numerous municipalities on a range of issues, including the Freedom of Information Act, the Open Meetings Act, federal and state constitutions, civil rights, cannabis, zoning, charter amendments, ordinance drafting, and employment-related matters. She has also handled numerous misdemeanor prosecutions, and she has the distinction of having taught classes on search warrants and civil litigation for the Law Enforcement Officers Regional Training Commission.

In addition, Ms. Stowers represents homeowners, lenders and mortgagors in real estate litigation involving such title-related claims as vesting, title-clearing and access, and boundary disputes. She also has expertise in the areas of judicial foreclosures and foreclosures by advertisement, deed drafting and enforcement, and residential leases.
